Wealthy Rebels held as Hostages.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 18. G. W. Donogan and W. H. Calhoun, two wealthy rebels of this city, have been arrested and confined in the penitentiary. T. T. Labb, Union men, now eld by the rebels at Chattanooga.

An unsuccessful attempt was made by rebel prisoners to escape from the penitentiary last night. One man was mortally. wounded and the others captured. . .

The Nashville Destroyed. SAVANNAH, Feb. 28.

The steamship Nashville in coming up the Ogeochee last night, grounded on a sand-bar above Fort McAllister, and was discovered this morning by the enemy's fleet. An fron clad opened fire across the marsh at the Nashville at 7.30, and continued till 10, when an incendiary shell struck the Nashville, setting her on fire, and she is now a total wreck. The fort fired upon the iron-clad, hitting her three times. Other gunboats from the fleet shelled the fort, doing no damage.

Congressional,

RICHMOND, Feb. 28. The Senate was not in session to-day. The House passed resolutions of thanks to J. H. Morgan and command for services preceeding the battle at Murfreesboro.

Mr. Marksdale introduced a Bill to authorise the suspension of Habeas Corpus, which was tabled and the House went into secret session.

Arrival of Yankee Prisoners.

RICHMOND, Feb. 28. One hundred and fifty-six Yankee prisoners, captured by Gen. Fitz Lee, near the Rappahanock, arrived here this forenoon.

From the North

RICHMOND, March 1. The Dispatch has dates from the North of the 23d, which states that G, N. Saunders sailed from Hallifax on the 21st, for Europe. He had Confederate dispatches with him.

The fact that a large number of ambulances were shipped from Cincinnati on the 16th, with orders that they should be at Nashville on the 20th, is taken as indicative of an early engagement of Rosencrantz's army.

The New York Times has a letter from Vicksburg which says that the enemy can descent, which I deliver over to you. [Yankees] of Mississippi is being crippled at a fearful rate since it has been at Vicks. burg. Over one hundred men have, every day, tailed to respond to roll call, and have and say to him that, if he wishes anything been carried never to return.

In the Yankee Congress, Powell, of Kentucky, gave notice that he should call for an investigation regarding the disposition of the Convention held at Frankfort. Gold in New York is quoted at 1621.

The Canadian brings English dates of the 7th. The Queen in a speech before Parliament with regard to American affairs said she had abstained from taking any steps with a view to inducing a cessation of hostilities, because it had not seemed that any such overtures could be attempted with any probability of success. She, however, viewed with the deepest concern the conflict which still raged, and witnesses with grief the distress which the war inflicted upon portions

The London Times says it is reported that certain parties in Paris had offered a loan to the Confederate Government of five illions sterling, on the basis of cotton at five pence per pound, with the option of exchanging for Confederate Bonds at sev-enty, being eight per cent. interest, and women you can find use for somewhere." that the offer had been accepted. The Liverpool cotton market dull, and prices weak. Consols quoted at 927. The insurrection in Poland is said to be spreading. A sanguinary battle had been fought at Wentgrow, in which the insurgents had been defeated and the town captured by the Russians.

From Charleston, S. C.

GHARLESTON, March 1. Two steamers, the Douglass and Ruby arrived here at daylight this morning, bringing Nassau dates to Thursday. The Douglass was fired at several times by the blockaders, but was not hit. The steamers Stenewall Jackson and Here, from Charleston, also the steamer St. Johns, from Savannah had arrived safely at Nassau, on Feb. 15.; steamers Adela, Pearl and Virginia; schooners Alicia, By George, Agnes, Francis, Fry Isabella, Courier, Dari, Theresa, Comet, Lilly, Adventure, ills, Diopa, Rising Dawn, Two Hisgloops Chapter, Flying Fish, Good

THE BULLETIN: Luck, Rochenborough, Avenger, Julia. HOUSE AND LOT MILLIAN Ellen, Silas, Henry and Porave.

GEN. BEAUREGARD.

T. M. OATEY, A. A. G. Reported Capture of the Brooklyn.

The Vicksburg Whig says: "We have information which comes through a well known gentleman from New Orleans, that Gen. Magruder captured the famous Yankee man-of-war Brooklyn, off Galvaston, a short time since. She grounded, and while her crew were in the act of shifting her guns to get her off, Magruder sent out his musquito fleet and boarded her. This news was credited in New Orleans. This is certainly a brillant achievement, and adds additional lustre to the name of J. Bankhead Magruder.

KENTUCKY,-The knoxyille Register has ceived information from such a source as to place it beyond doubt that the Kentucky Convention did actually assemble on Saturday last at Frankfort and that the object of the Convention is to take the State out of the Union There may be some mistake in this information. It is not probable, that the Federal forces now in Kentucky, such a Convention would, or rather be permitted to assemble.

"Let our public men hiss the shadow of repudiation. Our subjugation would be the involuntary result of toreign violence; repudiation would be evidence of voluntae ry, innate want of principle. Let every Southern statesman and citizen adopt the language, 'Lunderstand not the idea of repudiation!' Let us hate it worse than Yankee tyranny, for the latter would be our misfortune, and the former our crime."

The Abolition Elephant.

HELENA, January 18, 1863. * * Since the first of January the children of Ham are having a hard time of it. They A resolution to adjourn on the 16th of are free, with no one to care for them, nothing to live on, half clothed and worse fed. God only knows what will become of the poor creatures.

Col. Bussey, post commandant, is a true gentleman, and well liked. Prompt, courteous and business like, he is a good man for the position. Every day negroes are coming into the camp with their little bundles, claiming protection and food. Thursday afternoon the following actual event took place:

J. B. Pillow, brother of the rebel Gener who has a heantiful plantation of the less from Helena, and who was worth half a million of dollars previous to the war, came into camp, through the lines, with 183 negroes, of both sexes and all ages. At the head of his servants, who followed in single file, he walked to the Colonel's headquarters, where the following conversation took place:

"Good morning, sir." "Good morning, sir."

"Where is the commandant of the post?"

"Before you, sir."

"Well, Colonel, here is my small charge, in the shape of American citizens of Afri-Here is a correct list of their names, ages, sexes and occupations. Please send them on to the President, with my compliments, else under my roof, on my grounds, or in my pockets, all he has to do is to ask and

"Mr. Pillow, I cannot receive these peor ple; I have no food for them-have nothing for them to do-have not food enough for our soldiers, hardly."

"And I cannot use them. I had bacon to keep them, but it has been stolen. I had corn, but it has been gobbled. Now, have nothing for them to eat, and, as Lincoln has turned this army into a nigger boarding house, you will please seat these people at your table."

"But I have no such power."

"Then give them work. If you fail to manage them, I will teach you. The art can be learned in about thirty years

"I have nothing for them to do." "Nor have I. You will not see them starve, I hope. I am a loyal man-have been a prosperous one-but can no longer care for these people. You have surely some use for them. Nearly all trades are "Well, I can't take them." "My God, what will they live on ? Can ou sell me corn and bacon? They will starve unless you do ''

"No, I cannot."

"And you cannot keep them?"

"Well, God only knows what will become of them,"

At the head of his old servants he left, and the free people followed him back cry-ing and wondering what next will come in their behalf. The poor creatures come into camp, steal provisions, &c., are kicked and cuffed about by all hands, and at times most unmercifully pounded by some soldier who will not stand their "sees." The only idea ninety-five of every hundred of slaves have of freedom is ease, treedom from labor, their and lust. Correspondence Chicago Times.

God and the Negro," From the N. Y. World.]

One member of the Beecher family has enriched the religious phraseology of the American people with the refined and pious ejaculation of "Bully Hallelujah!" other scion of the same stock has now favored us with a new national slogan.

"God and the Negro" is the war-cry which Henry Ward Beecher recommend to the armies of the republic, through the columns of the Independent, in the following passage, which nothing but a sense of public duty could induce us to quote:

"Congress is in dispute over a bill to arm and equip 150,000 negroes to serve in the war. Let it stop the debate! The case is settled; the problem is solved; the argument is done. Let the recruiting sergeants beat their drums! The next levy of troops must not be made in the North, but on the plantations. Marshal them into line by regiments and brigades! The men that have picked cotton must now pick flints! Gather the third great army! For two years the government has been searching, in an enemy's country, for a path to victory; only the negro can find it! Give him gun and bayonet, and let him point the way! The future is fair; God and the Negro are to save the repub-

It these brutal and blasphemous ravings reached our ears from Bedlam they would be sufficiently shocking. But they are deliberately printed in a paper professedly religious. They are intended to be read in the homes of civilized and Christian men. They are the creed of a man calling in their madness. This sanguinary ribal. cowardice. Here is the argument of this horrible cry:

"The interval between the destruction and the salvation of the republic is measured by two steps; one is, emancipation;

"The negroes are the final reliance of the government. They are the forlorn hope of the republic. They are the last safekeepers of the good cause. We must make alliance with them, or our final success is imperiled."

We beg the reader to control for a moment his disgust and his indignation, to unimpassioned eye the abyss of degradation which they reveal. Three rude, ignorant millions of negroes are the "forlorn hope" of twenty millions of civilized Anglo Americans waging a great war against five millions of their own race. Unless we can seduce these African allies into taking our guns and bayonets and fighting for us we are hopelessly beaten. We have not the manhood to maintain our cause: and when we offer freedom to the Southern slave it is not because we feel ourselves strong enough to give him what we promise, but because we hope he will be strong enough not only to secure his own freedom but to save us also from defeat and shame. Is the man who writes these things an American or a Chinse? Are we Greeks of the Lower Empire clamoring for the help of black Varangians against the terrible hordes of Jackson and of Lee?

The negroes are not commonly reputed go, that ever sunned himself among his pumpkins might shrink in scorn from an "alliance" with men whose philanthrophy thus shamelesely proclaims itself to be poltroonery in disguise.

With the soldiers and the citizens of the North this crowning insult, offered by the radicals to the American name and race. may safely be left for redress.

Wherever a man lurks within the most stolid armor of fanaticism they must sure ly find him out and sting his spirit up to some dim sense at least of the crisis we have reached and of the future which threatens us.

An army correspondent of a Northern paper says that the following interesting scene took place in the army of the Potomac not long since. A chaplain wanted a his standard. horse, and without much ceremony took one belonging to a Virginia farmer, but his possession of the property was very brief, as the following conversation shows: The chaplain rode into the presence of his suthe road there." The officer remarked, would be arrested for talking as he does. "You had better take him back again." The chaplain says, "why Jesus Christ, when he was on earth, took an ass from his owner whereon to ride into Jerusalem." The officer replied. "You are not Jesus Christ; that is not an ass; you are not on restore that horse to his owner, the bet it will be for you."

The Indian Legion. The Knoxville Register, of the 21st peaking of the Indian Legion in East

Major Thomas, commanding the Legion of Cherokee Indians, who have rendered much service to the Confederate cause in East Tennessee, was in our city yesterday. The Major is now with his aboriginal allies in the mountains on the border between this State and North Carolina, where he is in reality concileating the tories. Let us mention a fact or two, communicated to us Major Thomas, to the credit of these dusky warriors. They excel any troops in either the Northern or Southern armies for subordination-an Indian always executes an order with religious fidelity .-They scrupulously respect private property -there are no reports of depredations where they are encamped. They are the best scouts in the world, and hence the good that they accomplish among the mountain tories and bushwhackers. A notice that Thomas' Indians are in a section of country brings in the dodgers at once, for they know that hiding out will not avail against the Cherokees, By their aid the Major has enlisted, without bloodshed, a great many men in his corps of sappers and miners, who have thus been converted from mischievous tories and bush whackers into useful employees of the Confederate Government. The Major, if the war lasts will yet be of infinite service to the Government.

The New York papers think that if Vicksburg is only captured that a plenty of cotton can at once be obtained for the market. If Vicksburg falls, instead of cotton, the Federals will only find smoking ruins on the plantations exposed to their plun-

Resolutions to the Point. In the Indiana House of Representa-South to form a proper and unalterable esoffered the following preamble and resotimate of the value of Yankeee faith and the constancy of Yankee friendship. Let it not be forgotten that the New England demagogues, who, in the days of political war, affected to be the staunchest friends of the South, are now amongst the most truculent and unrelenting of our foes. The people of Charleston remember Cushing.

At the Democratic Convention held here in April, 1860, there were two men from Massachusetts, who took every occasion to attract public notice by the extreme character of the pro-Southern views which they then found it convenient to assume

Those two men were Benjamin F. Butler these ultra-sympathizers of the wronged

South ! Of the brute, Butler, we need say nothing. He has taken his place in history.

But what of the amiable, polished and soft spoken Cushing! He has not belied the energy he is hounding on the Northern rabble to the desolution of our homes and the slaughter of our people. We give an extract from a speech which he recently

"The question had frequently been acked him, 'how will you govern the rebel States if you conquer them !' He thought if they were whipped, the rebel States would give up, as many others had done before them. The proper way to secure this result was by earnestly supporting the Government of the Country, and lending it every aid to put down the rebellion. We had feiled thus far by the failure to recognize the black element in the South and the white loyal element as those to be first consulted in establishing the policy of the country. We should have consulted the wishes of these people, instead of listening to the soft blandishments of such men as Wickliffe, of Kentucky, or Governor Stanly, of North Carolina, who, in his opinion, were just as ready as Jefferson Davis to cut our throats. [Applause.] If it be necessary to bury three hundred thousand slaveholders to save twenty five millions of men let the slaveholders be buried by all means.

[Applause.] A rebel has no right to his life, to his property, or to his liberty. That is the plain law. Let us therefore carry it out. If not, what is to become of the loyal men of the South? It was nothing to him who was put in the place of the slave-holder-a black man or a white. [Applause.] There was nothing to prevent the operatives of Lancashire or the Germans, from participating in this movement. [Applause.] Those who in Europe and the secesh ministers, those left here, have turned up just as full of venom as they were before the "arrival of the fleet." The prayers for the President and for the peace and prosperity of the nation are discarded, and such other negative, but nevertheless offensive insults, are offered up for the "second dish," affording to the speculative and observing mind here a very fair notion of how long it will be before treason is again punished, as the only way for the salvation of souls. In Dr. Palmer's Church, the "Shepherd," last Sabbath, labored long and zealously to induce the Lord to open the way for the return of the blessed pastor now absent by the decree of wicked men. He prayed that the same Dr. Palmer might have strength from on high to sustain him in his times of persecution. Another most revolting evidence of secession hate is exhibited in the traps set to inveigle the poor soldier and sailor into the dens of vice and infamy, ply them with poisoned liquor, that soon makes them raving maniaes, in which condition they are turned into the streets to be arrested by brutal police men, who take a seeming satisfac ion of dragging in the most degraded manner a National soldier or sailor through the streets, tapping them occasionally on the head with their clubs, or throwing them down with violence on the curb stones. By this course, and under cover of the law, these police men get off a deal of the hate many of them feel for the Union troops, and also at the same time, by their brutal conduct they acquire an enviable reputation among their secesh sympathizing friends. In short, any expressed desire to conciliate these people, is simply taken advantage of, to give evidence to an impate and unalienable hate of the Union and its representatives. People of better circumstances show their malevolence by sneers and taunting remarks. In many cases practical insults, full of meaning, but not absolutely offensive enough 10 be noticed, are resorted to. The secesh ladies, ever ready to do their part, are just at this moment even more than usually attentive to the foreign officers in port and the French and Spanish Representatives-in danger of being surfeited with attentions, Whereas, By the late preliminary report on the eighth census of the U.S. published under the authority of the Secretary at the Department of the Interior, it appears that the real population of the State of Indiana in 1860, was 1,350,428, and the population of Massachusetts was 1,231,006; and

Whereas, It appears that Indiana has furnished 102,700 soldiers under the various calls of the President for volunteers and by draft; and

Whereas, The State of Massachusetts as appears by the annual message of His Excellency Governor Andrew, has turnish and Caleb Cushing. Where now stand ed but 60,000; and

Whereas, The draft was rigidly and mercilessly enforced in Indiana, and is no vet completed in Massachusetts; therefere Be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That our delegaperfidy of his race. Conspicuous amongst tion in Congress be instructed to inquire into the causes of such discrimination in the supporters of the war, with all his favor of Massachusetts.

These resolutions were referred to the Committee on Federal Relations. If the Western Legislatures would act as well as talk, it would suit us much better. We fear, however, that their loud denunciations of the East are all buncomb mere words, nothing more. Threats uttered in order to compel the Eastern members of the Federal Congress to vote for some grand speculating scheme which the Westa ern members wish passed.

The above preamble and resolution are to the point. They hit the nail on the head. And the failure of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and other Eastern States to carry out the draft, while it was rigidly entorced at the West, is only a repetition of history as far as the New England is concerned. It managed to do a vast amount of shirking in the war of 1812 -and has managed to do the same thing in this war also. The New England fanatics like to do the blowing and have others to do the fighting.

THE MISSOURI EMANCIPATION BILL .-The bill for emancipation in Missouri has finally passed the Federal Congress by a majority of four. The bill provides-That Missouri shall pass an emancination act within twelve months when twenty millions of five per cent bonds are to be delivered to the State, provided said emancipation act shall abolish slavery not later than July, 1876, and that said bonds, in the aggregate amount, shall not exceed the sum of two hundred dollars for each slave, and the bonds are not to exceed ten milpation adopted by Missouri shall provide unemployed should send their laborers for a full manumission of all slaves therein before July, 1865, and the future exclusion of slavery forever. Owing to the adoption of the amendment reducing the amount to two hundred dollars to be paid for each slave, it is thought the bill will amount to nothing.
